Will Lasater: Played 1 year at NCAA Division III Grinnell College before transferring to Purdue; Appeared in 23 games for the Pioneers with 3 starts; Averaged 4 points per game while shooting 32% from three point range

Tommy Hoy: Member of Purdue University Women's Basketball Practice Squad; Lights out 3 point shooter

Zane Barker: Four-year player at Goshen High School in Goshen, Indiana; Will join his brother Zack as one of Purdue's prominent forwards for the season

Biggest Rival: Indiana University

Best Player Nickname: Gunnar Reffeitt—"The Key"

2022-23 Season Outlook: After an incredibly successful 2021-22 campaign, Purdue looks to "run it back" with the return of several key pieces from last year's national championship team. While All-American center and NCBBA MVP Emerson Halbleib and All-American point guard Zack Hodgin will be tough to replace, the Boilermakers' depth and experience should keep them in the thick of the NCBBA title race yet again. Returning All-American Gunnar Reffeitt will headline the Boilermaker offense with his ability to score at all 3 levels. Shooting should be one of Purdue's strong suits this season as Reffeitt, Pearce, and Hoy can all get hot at any given time. Moving to the frontcourt, forwards Max Otterbacher, Zack Barker, and Grant Johnson all return from last season and will each play a significant role in the 10-man rotation. Senior Drew Hayden will look to fill the role of point guard for this season and should see a significant uptake in minutes compared to last year. Purdue's newcomers are headlined by Division III transfers Jake Tarnow and Will Lasater, as well as big men Ehssan Aksar and Zane Barker who will provide depth behind Johnson and Otterbacher.

Overall, Purdue looks poised to make a run at their 3rd National Championship in 7 seasons. Despite the losses of four significant contributors to last year's title winning squad, Purdue's returning depth and new additions leave them in a great position to be successful this season.

Head Coach Quote: "Our team is certainly going to look different than it did last year but I love how our team is coming together. We've practiced hard, are settling into our roles, and are playing better team basketball than we were at this point last season. We'll certainly be tested out of the gate with a tournament at USC in November and a match-up vs NCAA Division III Denison University in December, but I'm excited to see how we adapt and handle these challenges. As always, the goal around here is a National Championship and we're going to do everything possible to make that happen."
