2024-25 Season Outlook:

After a strong rebuild year in 2023-2024 with an almost brand new team, the Red Hawks look to retain to their rightful place atop the North Atlantic South Conference and take another strong swing at the North Atlantic Regional Championship Title. The plan is to ascend with the best of the best, looking to get back to Top 10 standing in the nation and compete for the honor and title of National Champion.

We are thrilled to have Jaden Oldjohn, our captain and PG, return from his hiatus after completing the police academy, Trevor Gittens looks to have an even stronger year and get a well deserved All American selection, and Captain/Senior swingman Mahdy Suleiman looks to have a breakout year in his final lap. Grady Griffin returns to action to bring additional explosive play, and Senior Aaron Spann looks to remain the most feared Forward in the region, if not the country. We also have a tone of new talent and a strong veteran returning cast to help us maintain our position as an anchor team in the NCBBA.

Stay tuned. Watch the climb...

2024-25 Season Outlook: A lot of good leadership and experience, mixed with high level new players that are mostly older players. The team has a lot of size and athleticism, but has built and is continuing to build on highly-skilled players that are being coached under a manager of the Syracuse Men's D1 team. All 17 players on this roster can make an impact and change the course of the game, and yet the team is very unselfish and focused on the process with the goal of winning the national championship.

Head Coach Quote: "We have a lot of experienced guys who know what it takes to win at this level. With the addition of valuable newcomers, we hope to bring Syracuse Club Basketball back to the National Championship for the first time in 8 years." - Matt Cinelli
